Dear Judge Weinstein and Magistrate Judge Levy:

We represent defendant The Procter & Gamble Company ("P&G"). In response to Your Honor's request, see Dkt. No. 109, enclosed please find an electronic copy of the PowerPoint presentation shown by P&G at the June 19, 2015 Science Day hearing. Your Honor also requested a brief description of the multimedia elements contained the presentation. That description follows.

- Slide 13 contains a video demonstration of the INDA FG501 test, which is also known as the Toilet Bowl and Drain Clearance test. The product being tested is Charmin Freshmates.
- Slide 16 shows a demonstration of the INDA FG503 test, which is also known as the Household Pump test. The product being tested is Charmin Freshmates.
- Slide 23 contains a video demonstration showing how conventional toilet paper performs under the Toilet Bowl and Drain Clearance test (INDA FG501). The video shows that toilet paper does not fully disperse before exiting a household plumbing system.

- Slide 30 contains a video demonstration showing P&G's Continuously Flowing Pipe ("CFP") system, which replicates a gravity-based sewer system. The CFP is system is not described in the INDA Guidelines.
